Mazes for Kids

Meet your maze explorer!

Hi! I am a little chick who loves to explore.
Let's go on a big maze journey together!
But I don't have a name yet. Will you give me one?

Dear grown-ups

In this book, your child goes on a maze journey through five places: a farm, a forest, a jungle, the ocean and a snowy land. Every maze helps an animal find its way, and every page practices something your child will need at school: holding a pencil, looking ahead, planning a route and not giving up.

Each part starts easy and the pages get a little harder as they go, so the last pages are a real challenge. The solutions are at the back of the book.

A few tips

- Pick a calm moment, when your child is rested and fed.
- Let your child choose. There is no need to go in order or to finish a page.
- Read the instructions aloud; the pictures do the rest.
- Praise the effort, not only the right answer.
- Stuck? Give a small hint rather than the answer.

Have fun on the journey!

Love, your little maze explorer

What your child learns

- Planning ahead
  Finding the way means looking ahead, trying a route and going back when it ends: the first steps of problem solving.
- Looking closely
  Walls, gaps and turns train careful looking and attention to detail.
- Hand skills
  Drawing a line between the walls without touching them builds the pencil control needed for writing.
- Patience
  Dead ends are part of the fun. Every maze shows your child that trying again works.
- New words
  Animals of the farm, forest, jungle, ocean and snow, their food and their homes grow your child's vocabulary. Talk about the pictures together!
- Confidence
  Finishing a place, ticking its circle on the contents page and earning the certificate show your child what they can do.

How hard is a page?

★☆☆ easy, about ages 3 to 4
★★☆ medium, about ages 4 to 5
★★★ a challenge, about ages 5 to 6

Look for the stars above each page's title. Every level has the same number of pages of each kind, so you can pick only one-star pages for a younger child and move up when your child is ready. Every child grows at their own pace: it is fine to stay at one level for a while.

How to play

1. Use a pencil, so a wrong turn is easy to rub out.
2. Find the animal at the start and where it wants to go.
3. Follow the paths with your finger first, then draw.
4. Draw a line from the start to the goal. Never cross a wall!
5. Hit a dead end? Go back and try another way. Stuck? Start from the goal.
6. Some mazes have things to stay away from. Find a way around them!
